NEW POST OFFICE TO OPEN HERE SEPTEMBER 4th

With dedication ceremonies sponsored by the Native Sons of the Golden West, the new post office in Daly City will be officially opened around noon on September 4, it was stated this week by Mayor Paul Green.

Located at Bepler street and Mission Circle, the post office which is a San Francisco post office department sub-station, is being completed this month at a cost of $30,000. Work on the one-story building started approximately two months ago.

Contractor for the structure was Robert Kelly of San Francisco.

WORK ON KNOWLES AVE. EXTENSION IS NOW UNDERWAY

Extension of Knowles Avenue from Niantic Street to Junipero Serra Blvd. was under way this week as the firm of Eaton & Smith started moving earth on the project.

The $15,000 project will be financed by Daly City's share of state gas tax funds.

The thoroughfare will tie in with the new traffic signals at Junipero Serra and Alemany extension and will provide easy access between the Westlake section and

Mystery Of Vanishing Axe Heightens Interest In Firemen's Picnic Sunday

Where is the axe?

Missing is this traditional trophy to be presented to the winning team of the horseshoe tournament at the annual picnic of the Daly City Firemen to be held Sunday, all day, at Flood Park. The picnic is open to the public and coffee, ice cream and beer will be served by the hosts.

As the time for the picnic grows closer and closer so also grows deeper the mystery of the whereabouts of the axe which vanished in February of 1949. Will it be found in time for presentation to the winning team Sunday?

Many Rumors

During the past year, the axe is reported to have changed hands three times and at various other instances rumors of its whereabouts have been received from as far away as Hawaii and Korea. Pictures have been seen of the axe resting on the grave in the Chinese Cemetery in Colma.

The axe is some four feet in length. Its handle is gold plated and inscribed on its face side are the names of the horseshoe tournament winners since 1947. It was at the annual firemen's picnic that year that the Veteran Firemen's Association first presented the axe as a trophy to the winning team of the horseshoe tournament.

Six Teams

Competing in the tournament each year are teams from the four companies of the fire department, the chiefs of the department and the Veteran Firemen's Association making six in all.

In 1947 Thomas Joyce and Larry Shaw of the Veteran Firemen's Association were the victors. In the two ensuing years, Elmer and Lawrence Kennedy of the Fire Chief's office won, and in 1950 Lawrence Kennedy and Larry Shaw of the Veteran Firemen's Association emerged in first place.

And now even more suspenseful than the question of who will win Sunday's tournament, is the concern of whether the axe will be available for presentation to the winners.

FOG COME BACK! ALL IS FORGIVEN

No doubt to give the fog complainers something loud and flashing to protest about, last Tuesday residents of Daly City and the surrounding territory were shown just how unusual, unusual weather can really be.

Thunder that shook buildings and lightning that started fires in some parts were the more spectacular weather aspects that also included a downpour of rain and hail.

The weather drama during the morning hours was followed by a warm, pleasant, sunshiny afternoon.

LICENSES WITHHELD FROM LOCAL DRIVERS

(CNS)—A. H. Henderson, state director of motor vehicles, today announced action on three automobile drivers licenses in Daly City.

Ordered on probation was the license held by Darrell Eugene Lewis, 275 Station, for negligent operation.

A similar charge resulted in an order of probation for Charles Limeou Tucker, 232 Second Ave.

Suspension was ordered for Amsy Tillman Turner, 6925 Mission St., for two driving while intoxicated convictions.

District Attorney's Office Conducts Local Bookie Raids

Daly City councilmen met Tuesday night for a fact-finding session on the bookie raid situation here, the meeting being the outgrowth of charges by District Attorney Louis B. Dematteis of San Mateo county that Daly City police failed to act on a tip in regard to the bookmaking establishment at 250 Citrus avenue. Only councilman who did not attend the meeting was A. J. Gaggero.

Dematteis, whose office staged the bookie raid on Citrus avenue last Saturday, claimed that local officers were informed of the character of the place some two weeks ago and did not act.

At Monday night's session of the council, Gaggero demanded that Police Chief Wilbur W. Sunderland be relieved of his office. However, the demand was refused by the other councilmen.

Sick Leave

Announcement was made today by Mayor Green that Sunderland has asked for sick leave to take effect Monday. His request will be taken up at Monday's city council meeting at which time someone else will be appointed to handle his position.

In commenting on the charges against him, Sunderland stated this morning, "I have tried to give citizens of Daly City good police protection. According to other papers, there are rumors of my position being at stake. I do not believe it advisable to enter into any controversies at the present time.

"For over 22 years I have served the people here to the best of my ability. From 1929 to 1936 I served as a patrolman; then from 1936 to 1943 as a sergeant, and following a term in the navy from Correction!

It was erroneously reported in The Record of August 9, that signs of bookmaking activity were found at the residence of Cesare Agresti, 11 E. Moltke street. This report was due to an error in street numbers.

POLICEMAN PUTS DAMPER ON FIRE

Rapid action by Daly City Police Officer August Benassini, who is also a fireman, Tuesday stopped a conflagration which started in the residence rented by Mr. and Mrs. Jose Quatra, 130 Wilson street, from developing into a fire of major proportions.

According to Fire Chief Elmer Kennedy, Benassini was first at the scene of the fire, which started in the attic, and dowsed the flaming knotty pine wall with water.

As the fire department arrived shortly afterward, the blaze had been effectively controlled, but the knotty pine wall was still smoking, so four panels were cut from the wall to protect the residence from further damage.

Chief Kennedy said that the fire probably started as a result of a short circuit in faulty radio wiring.

Mrs. Jose Quatra, who was downstairs when the fire started, was first to give the alarm. "I smelled something burning and I went upstairs to investigate and it was then that I discovered the fire," Mrs. Quatra said.

DALY CITY GRAD ENTERS NAVAL ACADEMY IN 1952

Patrick McCool of 411 Perry Ave., Pacific Manor, Sharp Park, local Jefferson graduate of last year, left last Saturday for Washington, D.C., where he has been granted a scholarship at Colombian Preparatory School in that city.

Pat's enrollment was too late for the Annapolis Naval Academy Exams which closed this past April but will enter the Naval Academy in the fall of next year, 1952.

Pat was a star football player at Jefferson this past year, having also served as president of the student body. He was selected for P.A.L. and was chosen football player of the year at Jefferson. He achieved his success under the guidance of Coach Glenn South, local Jefferson High School athletic coach.

Pat's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Archie McCool. He left with Mr. and Mrs. Sgt. J. Cook of Sharp Park.

Father Bags Deer, Son Catches First Trout

A successful vacation was had by both Mr. Tom Stanghellini and his son Tom, Jr., 5, recently, as Tom, Sr., bagged a buck and his son caught his first trout, one of which was 13 inches long.

Mr. Stanghellini, 128 Moltke street, reports that he shot his buck, which weighed 85 pounds dressed, in San Bernardino county 40 miles south of Hollister.

Tom, Jr., caught five trout in all near Almaden, California. In respect to the 13 inch trout which his son caught, Mr. Stanghellini said proudly, "My son landed that big trout without any assistance from me."

Mr. Stanghellini explained that he was extremely satisfied with his son's venture because Tom, Sr., had given the light trout tackle to his son on his fifth birthday.

High School Registration Details And Faculty Roster Announced

Estranged Love Bird (Sex Unknown) Fully Reconciled With Former Mate

Bill or Coo, the love bird who had deserted his home for the residence of Mr. Edwin Cuneo, 681 San Diego avenue, has returned to nest with his (or her) mate and owners Mr. and Mrs. John C. Wiesner, 49 Lake Forest drive.

The estranged bird was found by Mr. Cuneo basking in the sun in his garden. Mrs. Wiesner identified her love bird in response to a story published in The Record concerning the wayward bird.

According to Mr. Wiesner, his wife took the birds on a second honeymoon to Woodland where she is visiting her mother.

Reconciliation between the two birds was not spontaneous Mr. Wiesner reported. "They (the birds) greeted each other very shyly at the outset—each bird issued high-pitched shrieks," Mr. Wiesner said.

"But when I last visited my wife at Woodland the situation had changed—everything was soft billing and cooing between the two love birds."

Mr. Wiesner said that the birds were his wife's pets and he could identify either one of them.

In explanation of the bird's disappearance, Mr. Wiesner pointed out that concrete work was in progress at his home and all the windows were open.

Both birds had been given freedom from their cage during the construction work; and hence, the one bird's sudden departure from his habitat. Bill or Coo traveled almost a mile before roosting in Mr. Cuneo's garden.

WESTLAKE SCHOOL OPENING DELAYED UNTIL NOVEMBER

The new Westlake Elementary school will not be finished until the middle of November because of a delayed shipment of steel window shashes, according to Mr. Charles Becker, member of the Westlake Property Owner's association.

Construction was supposed to be completed by August 15, but a steel shortage and this delayed shipment have caused two postponements.

There are three separate buildings, connected by walkways, which are in the process of completion. As each unit is completed, children will be enrolled for that unit.

Stop signs have been installed around the area bordering the school property for the children's protection.

The school, which was designed by Mario Ciampi, a well-known California architect, is located on a triangular plot of land bordered by Westlawn avenue, Lake Vista avenue, and Fieldcrest drive.

Eventually the first-sixth grade school will accomodate 350 children in its 16 classrooms.

Jefferson Union High School will open for the new school term on Tuesday, September 11. As in the past, classes will start at 8:26 a.m. and close at 3:00 p.m., with half hour lunch periods.

Bus routes and schedules will remain the same as last year unless changes seem advisable after the first day.

Students who are new in the community or who for any reason have not made out their courses of study are asked to come to the school on Tuesday or Wednesday, September 4 and 5, to talk to the counsellors.

Over 1050 students are expected this fall so classes will be crowded and many other problems will confront the staff.

"Be here on the opening day," is the advice of the faculty. Books will be issued, lockers assigned, and work will start. "Don't start under a handicap by enrolling late," say Stanford Hannah, district superintendent.

The faculty is complete and includes three new members. These are:

Mr. Alfred Runnells who will teach music; Mr. George Hinkle in the commercial department; and Mr. Joseph Ballarin, an addition to the staff in mathematics.

Mr. Runnells comes to Jefferson from Santa Ana. He and Mrs. Runnells have purchased a home in Edgemar.

Mr. Hinkle, a graduate of San Jose State, has been at Coalinga. The Hinkles and their two small children will live in the new Stoneson tract on the southern edge of the district.

Mr. Ballarin, a native of San Francisco, and a graduate of San Francisco State College, has been teaching in the San Joaquin valley, but desires to return to the bay area.

In addition to these new men, Jefferson will welcome the return of Ernest Ribera, popular history teacher and track coach. Ribera was called back into service by the U. S. Marine Corps but expects to be discharged August 31.

Make Crossings Safe For The Pedestrians

Why wait until someone is killed or critically injured to make some necessary changes in the new traffic control pedestrian crossing signals? Perhaps the engineers, in all their erudite understanding, know what the confused walk-wait-wait system means but—they do not use the pedestrian crossing lanes except probably for rare inspection tours.

These pedestrian crossings are used for the most part by women and children Women who do their shopping in Daly City stores, and children who accompany them or who will be on their way to and from school in just a few weeks. And it's going to be a hard task to educate a child to the fact that WAIT only means wait at one particular time, but actually means GO at other times.

How much simpler and better the old type Stop & Go signals with the amber caution signal. At least they actually meant Stop or Go without much confusion for the pedestrian.

But, now we have somewhat of a Rube Goldberg contraption for the pedestrians to figure out. All they have to do is to try and dope out whether WAIT means Wait or Go. Not so confusing to engineers, but no small matter for a mother crossing with a child or for children crossing alone.

Citizens' Poll

Merchants Dislike Signals

In the past few weeks, since the installation of the new signal system "On Top of the Hill" in Daly City, the Record has attempted to capture public reaction to this project.

This week's poll is based on the opinions of the various merchants in the area surrounding the new signal set-up.

Reactions varied among the merchants polled, but they all were sincere in their belief that the traffic and pedestrian signals were very confusing.

More than one merchant felt that the intricate network of signals was too complicated for the average youngster to understand and operate. They hoped that some change might result to insure children's safety.

Miss Joan Hopman of Hopman Electric & Radio Co. said, "My mother and I think the new signals are terrible. Maybe they're alright for drivers, but as pedestrians we don't like them.

"I don't see why they changed the pedestrian crossing from the Bank of America across Mission street—people still cross there."

Mr. Mel Dubins of Dubins Haberdashery said, "I don't think they (the signals) are very satisfactory. The system doesn't seem to be simplified enough and this makes it very confusing.

"I don't know if the signals affect business, but some people may not stop in our shopping district because of the traffic congestion."

Vince Gelsi of Vince & Fred's Liquors said, "They're not worth a penny. Those engineers had better change those signals before the kids start back to school. There's not enough time to cross the street."

Local Boy Goes On Explorer Cruise

Thomas M. Ward, a member of Explorer Ship 144, Daly City, sponsored by the International Association of Machinists Lodge No. 68, was among 14 San Francisco Sea Scouts who boarded three Navy destroyer escorts bound for Victoria, B.C., last Saturday on a summer training cruise.

It is the second of two such cruises scheduled this year through the joint cooperation of the Boy Scouts of America and the U. S. Navy.

During the voyage in which over 3000 miles will be covered, the young men will stand parallel watches with Naval Reserve personnel under instruction, and will learn signalling, marline spike seamanship, piloting and bridge and deck procedure.

A popular part of the Boy Scout Council's training program for youths 16 years and older, the two-week training cruises give them an opportunity for firsthand sea experience and a chance to assimilate the customs and traditions of life aboard ship. Uniforms and personal equipment are furnished by the Scouts, who also pay for their meals aboard.

C. W. Elberling, Skipper of Sea Scout Ship "Dolphin," accompanied the Scouts as their leader, assisted by Jack Henry Conjulusa.

Pigeons Bring Good Scout News

A report of a most successful Boy Scout "good turn" by San Mateo Area Council Campers at Camp Pomponio, reaching Burlingame by "Pigeongram," was revealed today by Glen O. Smallcomb, Public Relations Chairman for the Community Chest of San Mateo County.

Through the courtesy of William Jackson, 312 28th Avenue, San Mateo, whose racing pigeons have brought Camp news from the Council's coastside Camp, the last Pigeongram included a report of the completion of a civic service project for the Community Chest.

Wishing to do their part, Scout Campers assembled stickers, red feathers and Community Chest material into kits for thousands of workers who will participate in the campaigns throughout the County in October.

Westlake Marine On Maneuvers

Sgt. Harry J. Hatt, 61 Park Plaza Drive, will, as a member of the flying Marine Reserves of Marine Fighter Squadron No. 141, participate in the first training maneuvers to be held since the Korean conflict.

Korean veterans will impart their Marine "know-how" to local youths at the Oakland Municipal Airport where these men will live and work together while learning all the technical skills connected with Marine aviation as part of the national defense program.

This will mark the first time since 1946 that Citizen Marines will be afforded the opportunity to allow their friends and families to witness the type of training that has made the word "Marine" famous for 175 years. Previously training manuevers were held in Southern California and on the East Coast.

BLAME POLICE IN BOOKIE PROBE

1943 to 1946, I was appointed chief of police."

Bookie Raid

The bookie raid last Saturday afternoon at 250 Citrus avenue, Daly City, conducted under the direction of Inspector A. L. Lamport of the San Mateo county district attorney's office, resulted in the arrest of two men and the seizure of notebooks and records.

The men were Danny Capece, 35, of 859 Larchmond Drive, Colma, and Albert Leffler, 48, of 2640 Post street, San Francisco. The San Mateo county grand jury returned bookmaking indictments against them Tuesday before Superior Judge Edmund Scott in Redwood City. He set bail at $5,000 each.

According to Lamport, this Citrus avenue one-story residence had an elaborate security system with lounging guards posted on the streets nearby. He stated further that books and papers seized in the raid indicated a tie-in between the Daly City place and the ones raided on Market Street in June.

Commission House

In continuing, Lamport said, "This was no ordinary bookie joint, this was a commission house." He charged that many smaller bookies made layoff bets here and would send in a string of bets totaling as much as $15,000, emphasizing that $500 bets were common according to records confiscated in the raid.

Making the raid with Lamport were Deputy Sheriffs Jess Pond, Forrest Mitchel and Frank Campbell. Among the records obtained are lists of names and dates that will be investigated for possible further action.

The two men arrested were first booked at the Daly City police station and afterwards transferred to Redwood City.

Phone Under Fire

During the past two weeks, suspected bookies telephone facilities in Daly City and Colma have been under fire by Douglas Hayden, chief special agent of the telephone company.

Working in co-operation with San Mateo County District Attorney Louis Dematteis and Sheriff Earl Whitmore, hundreds of dead wires leading into buildings were ripped out, four working lines were disconnected and some dead phones removed.

Commenting on his findings in connection with this project Hayden said: "There were indications of past bookmaking activity, and that some of the dead wires had been used by illegal wiretapping."

Operating Methods

In explaining how some bookies had been operating in the past in Daly City and Colma locations, Hayden stated, "They would rent a small space in legitimate business establishments, such as markets, florists and creameries. We found where plywood boards were erected in the rear of stores to provide a hideaway office for bookies. When a request would come in to install two phones in a cubbyhole office, the explanation was that the legitimate store wanted the phones to solicit business."

way inspector, who is stationed at the Bank of America to direct the bus schedules, said, "I don't like the signals because they aren't in favor of the pedestrian. Under the old system, pedestrians were accustomed to traffic control by the police, but no people must depend solely on the signals."

Tom Burkhard of the Market Basket grocery store was a bit more adamant as he said, "We all think they stink! We do need signals, but these don't seem to be the answer to our problem; maybe an elevated airplane deck might help. There's just too much confusion."

"I believe that pedestrian signals across San Jose and Mission to the North should be abolished, but of course other merchants in this section would naturally complain."

Mr. John McGraw of McGraw Drugs said, "Everyone has been complaining about the new signals; they're very inconvenient. I'd say the old system was much better; there's too much confusion resulting from the new system."

George Glass of the Hilltop Market said, "People are very disturbed about the new signals; they are very confusing. Some people cross the street when the signal indicates WALK, and then wait on the island when the signal indicates WAIT. In this manner it takes four minutes to cross the street."

"I hope they change the signals before someone is killed. I'm here all day and I've heard a lot of complaints," he said.

Equalization Board Compares Tax Levels

Sacramento, Aug. 22. (CNS)—Ratios of public utility properties in cities, showing the relationship between city assessment levels and county levels, were announced by the state board of equalization here this week.

In Daly City, the county assessment equalization is $928,780, and the city, $928,780, showing a city ration of 1.00.

Assessments are made by the board of equaliz tion at 50 per cent of market value, and the ratios are an indication of the difference between city and county assessments as related to common property.

Conference Planned On Problems Of Aged

Sacramento, Aug. 22. (CNS)—State officials are making plans for the Governor's conference on the Problems of the Aging, which will be held in Sacramento October 15 and 16, Louis Kuplan, executive secretary of the conference, announced here this week.

Some of the problems to be discussed will be the federal aid plan for assistance to the aging and senile in county homes, which the state legislature turned down at the last session over the recommendation of the governor for its adoption, as well as a proposed increased pension plan, which will be voted on at the 1952 elections.

THIS ISN'T AN ACCEPTED part of the Marchbanks Park recreation program, but it is one used every day by children at a great risk to themselves. Here five youngsters play on top of the recreation building at Marchbanks Park, and one of the girls peers down a hole left by a torn out pipe. When is the city going to see fit to put up a small fence to keep the children off the roof? (Photo by Pat Corner)

Still The City Waits To Repair The Rotten Park Building

It appears to be another case of time will solve everything.

We speak of the rotten condition of the Marchbanks Park building.

One group of city officials assert nothing should be done to fix the structure, as new lavatories and showers are to be built in another section of the park. This, we believe, would be the ideal situation...that is, if such construction is feasible and possible within the next six months.

On the other hand, another group of officials has asserted the city does not have enough money in its recreation budget for this added expense. They say the Marchbanks Park building will be repaired, but none of them are able to say when.

We think this last view is the more realistic. Already rising building costs have threatened to hold up the complete finishings of the inside of the new Community Center Building. Every extra dime will be needed for this worthy cause.

Consequently, The Record feels the city should take immediate steps to repair the building at Marchbanks Park. This would cost only a few hundred dollars, and would tide the city over until such time as more money is available for a second, better building in the park.

But at any rate, something should be done immediately. There is no excuse for waiting on a situation which presents a health and safety menace to every child using the structure.

All too often in the past the city has moved at a snail's pace when it came to needed improvements. We believe it's about time some city officials woke up to the fact we are living in an age when the excuse, "wait until tomorrow," is no longer valid.

Is The Proposed Re-arming Of Japan Another Mistake?

How easily and quickly the American people forget the past.

While thousands of their sons were being slaughtered at Tarawa and Iwo Jima in 1945, who could then have imagined that six years later the U. S. Government would send Mr. John Foster Dulles to the Phillippine Islands, Australia, and New Zealand to persuade them to approve the rearmanent of Japan?

Have we already forgotten Pearl Harbor, Bataan, the beheading of American soldiers, the horrible Japanese concentration camps, the Hopevale missionary martyrs, the thousands of other casualties of Japanese militarism?

On the deck of the battleship Missouri on September 2, 1945 and again before Congress, April 19, 1951, General Douglas MacArthur said, "It must be of the spirit if we are to save the flesh." That was probably quoted by every preacher and printed in every newspaper across the United States. Is it today only a meaningless, oratorical platitude?

The new democratic Japanese Constitution, incorporated two noble paragraphs:

"Desiring peace for all time and fully conscious of the high ideals controlling human relationships now stirring mankind, we have determined to rely for our security and survival upon the justice and good faith of the peace-loving peoples of the world.

"War, as a sovereign right of the nation, and the threat or use of force, is forever renounced as a means of settling disputes with other nations. The maintenance of land, sea, and air forces, as well as other war potential, will never be authorized. The right of belligerency will not be recognized."

No official in Washington will dare make a frontal attack on those noble paragraphs, or seek to compel the Japanese people to rescind them. By a much more subtle method the Japanese Constitution will be by-passed. A simple, innocent amendment that nothing in the Constitution prohibits self-defense will again set the sky as the limit on rearmament.

One interesting fact in the Japanese rearmament proposal has not yet registered. Naively The New York World Telegram hinted at in an editorial:

"The United States will undertake to pay most if not all of the cost of Japanese rearmament. Without its pre-war empire, Japan's economy cannot support a real rearmament program."

So the American taxpayer must pay for rearming a nation whose militarism had brought such incalculable misery, suffering, destruction, and death to millions of people. What must an American father or mother think whose son died on the sands of Iwo Jima?

Arguments against rearming Japan seem overwhelming. The Japanese people do not want it: "It is not the wish of the Japanese people to convert Japan again into a battlefield," said Secretary Inajiro Asanuma of the Social Democratic Party.

Throughout Asia the proposal will awaken memories of past aggression and fears of future repetition. It will increase the growing suspicion of the people of India and China about American designs in the Orient.

It will be a magnificent piece of propaganda for Russian Communists.

It will be a grievous blunder and a costly breach of faith.

And it will mean that every American boy who died to rid the world of Japanese militarism, died in vain.

More Representation Is Needed At Council Meetings

Believing that only an interested, informed community is a democratic community, The Record for many months has urged more persons to attend vital public meetings.

In the case of the Jefferson Elementary School Board this interest has been shown. Whereas months ago few went to these meetings, they are now regularly attended by scores of citizens.

Unfortunately, this hasn't been the case as regards city council meetings. True, there are a few new faces, but they are too few.

One happy exception has been the Westlake Property Owners Association. At the last meeting of the council Mr. Charles Becker was present to represent the Association. At that time he indicated that either he or another member would make it a point to attend subsequent meetings.

We believe other sections of Daly City could learn a lesson from Westlake. Whereas it isn't always possible for individuals to attend, there is no reason why various organizations can not be represented.

Consequently, we suggest that such groups as the Lions, Eagles, various veterans organizations, women's groups and the PTAs make it a point to elect an officer, or officers to take an active interest in civic affairs.

This, we believe, would give the council an excellent opportunity to keep in step with current public opinion. It also would mean that our local clubs and organizations could fulfill a vital role in the community by making democracy work here at home.

The next council meeting is Monday, August 27. We hope individuals and clubs will agree with our opinion and make some showing at this meeting.

The Record welcomes any letter on any event of public, or private interest. These letters are published at no expense to the writer. We hope readers will show enough interest in their city to occasionally "sound off;" for the purpose of this column is to give you, the reader, a chance to express an opinion.

Last Frontier

Mr. Beckerman Praises Community Cooperation At Fund-Raising Dance

Something very exciting happened at Colombo Hall in Colma last Saturday night. The Village Play School held a barn dance. That in itself may not seem to call for throwing hats into the air and cheering madly. Not even the fantastic size of the hot dogs, the excellence of the orchestra, the unflagging good spirits of the 300 happy dancers will account for the warm glow that should fill many hearts. But the unflagging good spirit of community endeavor which was connected with the preparation and performance of this affair should hearten anyone who has become cynical about the pioneering values of America.

Here in Broadmoor, Daly City, Colma, and Westlake (there ought to be a name for this area) were a group of people who wanted a cooperative nursery school for their children. They got together and created one. It was a cooperative effort in every sense and involved all of the community. Public agencies and officers helped to get the technical matters of licensing under way quickly and simply. School trustees and the Colma Community Center trustees worked cheerfully and hard to insure proper instruction and housing for the school. Merchants contributed generously in support of the money-raising dance. The parents in the cooperative worked tirelessly selling tickets door to door and on publicity, general planning and the construction needed on the school building. Residents responded beyond all expectation in the purchase of tickets. It is not really surprising, then, that every one at the dance had a bang-up good time, that every one is still talking about how pleasant an evening Saturday night was.

There is more to this episode, however, than a successful money-raising affair. Most of us know about the old American custom of the house raising. When a member of a community needed a new house, or barn, his neighbors all assembled and helped him build it. The women folk supplied food. The results of such activity were rich and subtle. They extended far beyond a new house or a barn. Those who partook had contributed something to the general welfare of mankind. They had formed new friendships or renewed old ones. They had developed the kind of respect for each other that can come only from working together constructively on a noble plane. They were discovering the nature of humanity.

And so, we feel that every one who helped make Saturday night's dance so happy an occasion should know that he has been part of a great experience. Not only those who won the prizes, or those who served their stint behind the food counters or at ticket desks, not only the merchants who advertised or contributed prizes, but also those who bought the tickets, those who danced, in short the entire community, was having an experience at the last frontier—the frontier of community cooperation. We feel that the world, at large, could learn something from this little northern end of a peninsula in California: No man is an island entire of iitself . . . he is a piece of the continent. Such frontiers of communit enterprise remain before us always, and the reward of pioneering them is immense. A feeling of general self-satisfaction, the kind that comes from creative effort is in order for the entire community. Thanks and congratulations.

STATE CAPITOL: Eventually, state officials hope that contractors will finish the Capitol annex, which was supposed to have been ready for full occupancy last January. Newest date set for completion is three weeks hence, but all officials concerned have their tongue in cheek on this prediction. Regardless, contracts are being let for a face-lifting of the grounds around the Capitol.

Construction Of New State Printing Plant Will Start Soon

Sacramento, Aug. 23. (CNS)—Actual construction of a new state printing plant will start within a short time, it was announced today as Director of Public Works Frank B. Durkee authorized a call for bids to begin the structure.

The plant, which will be located in an industrial area at Seventh and North B streets, ultimately is scheduled to cost $3,000,000. It will house the largest single printing plant west of Chicago.

The bids authorized today were for structural steel work, which will cost approximately $340,000.

NEW INFLUX OF DEFENSE WORKERS BRINGS PROBLEMS

Aug. 22. (CNS)—Looking forward to a tremendous influx of defense workers in California, Governor Earl Warren is preparing the state to do what it can to take care of this influx. California, he points out, hasn't recovered from the World War II invasion of population, and with the expanding national defense effort, much of which will center on the West Coast, and particularly in California, the state, cities and counties will be expected to take care of another influx.

Consequently, the governor has appointed a nine-member Defense Mobilization Service Committee to assist communities in this state to take in stride the impact of the added burden additional population will entail.

Some idea of the size of the influx is obtained from recent estimates of the State Department of Finance, which is asking departments to compute budgets on the basis of 11,500,000 population by the close of the fiscal year in July, 1953. This is approximately a million more people than are in California at the present time, a state which roughly is equipped to handle somewhat less than ten million.

The expected additional population can have a potent effect on the tax dollar. For instance, a $250,000,000 school bond issue was voted, and ever since, funds have been allocated to improve and expand school facilities throughout California. Yet this large fund, the experts point out, wasn't enough even with ten and a half million population to bring the school system up to a modern level.

Then there is the matter of highways. California's highway system, despite the four and a half cent gas tax, is deficient to the extent of more than a billion dollars, and even at present expenditures and with the state's present population, it would take more than a life-time to bring the highway system up to par.

Sanitation poses still another problem. Many communities already are working to capacity their waste disposal systems, and the influx of new population will mean more bonds for expansions.

While some progrress has been made in housing since World War II, nevertheless, thousands of California families still are living in the barrack-type buildings erected by the government as emergency shelter during that war.

CITY GOVERNMENT COSTS INCREASE DURING 1949-50

Government cost payments by the cities in San Mateo county for 1948-49 and 1949-50 were reported by the California Taxpayers' association this week.

Government cost payments in Daly City totaled $286,502 in 1948-49 and $407,503 for the 1949-50 period. In Colma the totals were $16,832 for the first period and $25,923 for 1949-50.

The greatest difference in governmental costs in Colma occurred under the catagory "streets." From 1948-49, Colma spent $2,287, but in 1949-50, $10,217 was expended for this service.

Daly City also spent more of its budget on this service in 1949-50. From 1948-49, $27,729 was spent for "Streets," but during 1949-50 expenditures sky-rocketed to $124,662.

The only other catagory which showed a radical change in Daly City came under the heading of "Debt Service." In 1948-49, the expenditure was $4,180, but during the 1949-50 period, this set of figures was increased to $10,051.

City government is one of the several layers of government which make up the total government structure—and tax structure—which affects most Californians, the Taxpayers' association pointed out.

Major share of the city government costs—as of most other governmental units—is salaries and wages of employees.

Local governing boards — city councils, supervisors, school trustees—should exercise considerable care in adjusting salaries and wages upward in the days ahead, lest the cost of city and other local governments get even further out of line with the ability of local taxpayers to pay the bill for state and local taxes, as well as carry the cost of armament called for by Uncle Sam.

CLEAN THE CLEANERS

Car owners have a way of forgetting that cleaners have their limitations; that they will pick up just so much dirt, according to the National Automobile Club. At least once a year, the cleaners should be cleaned or, in the case of non-cleanable types, filtering elements should be replaced.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

by Henry C. MacArthur

(CNS)—Members of the state board of equalization are in one of the most perplexing quandaries over utility and common property assessments ever involving that constitutional organization, and are likely to remain that way for the next couple of years.

The quandry involves the fact that the board has discovered the state has a constitution, and with somewhat red faces, two members at least, admit the board hasn't carried out the provisions of this all-powerful document.

First, Section 9 of Article 13 provides that the duty of the board shall be "To equalize the valuation of the taxable property in the several counties of the state for the purpose of taxation."

Assessments

Consternation reigned among the board members when their own staff completed a survey of assessments in the various counties which revealed a range in the ratios of assessments to actual value of from 24 to 46.

Second, Section 14 of the same article gives the board the authority to assess public utility properties, "at the actual value of such property."

The term "actual value" has been under discussion for some time, and an earlier board of equalization held that 50 percent of market value should be the actual value of this property. Consequently, for some 13 years, the board has assessed utilities at 50 percent of market value.

Court Decision

Meanwhile, there was a court decision which substantially held actual value was the amount assessed on common property in the same county. This left the board in another spot, for its assessment of utility property at 50 percent was in the one low assessed common property county, 100 percent higher than the assessment on common.

In 1949, the legislature came along with a formula to compel equalization both of common and utility property. So much antagonism rose to the bill on the part of counties, that the legislature in 1951 delayed its provisions for two years.

With the board starting to apply the formulas in the 1949 bill, the governor signed the delayed action a few hours after ratios were made public, and once again the board was left on the spot. An attorney general's opinion holding the governor's action constitutional did little to help the board, as it was right back where it started, working under the provisions of the state constitution.

Trapped

The board, in fact, is caught right in the middle of its obligation to the people of the state to carry out the provisions of the constitution, and the battle of county assessors and supervisors to continue the assessment program in the same old way for another two years.

The question has nothing to do with whether any of the members "favor" public utilities should their ratios of assessment be reduced rather, it is a matter of carrying out the provisions of the constitution and court decision on the assessments, which affect the pocket-books of every property owner in the state.

(CNS) — How the California Unemployment Insurance Appeals Board interprets the Unemployment Insurance Act to prevent employers from safeguarding their rights in revealed in a recent decision of the board.

Te decision, briefly, interprets the act to prevent the department from giving an employer information as to his former employees subsequent employment, thereby denying the employer the opportunity to check and determine whether or not a benefit claim should be protested.

The decision came about as the result of a claim filed in Los Angeles by Claude M. Keefer, which was protested by the Los Angeles Brewing Company, his former employer, and the corporation counseling service, acting as agent for the brewing concern.

Notified

On receipt of notice of Keefer's claim, the brewing company notified the department that he had quit voluntarily, and requested a disqualification. At the same time, it requested the department to make known the "most recent employer" of Keefer, as disqualifications apply only on the last employer.

In requesting the information, the fir, which was responsible for the greater part of the wages on which Keefer would draw his unemployment insurance, stated it desired the information to check ith the most recent employer, and determine whether or not Keefer was entitled to a claim.

But the Appeals Board, despite the fact the brewing company's reserve account would be charged if the claim were paid, held that the most recent employer was confidential information, which under the law, it is prohibited from tranmitting.

Twin Sections

The act itself, however, in two separate sections, provides that information obtained in the course of administration shall be confidential "except to furnish an employer or his duly authorized agent with information to enable him to fully discharge his obligations, or to safeguard his rights under the act, or to secure a reduction in contribution rate."

The board's reasoning in handing down this decision was that the employer made no contention that the department had failed to comply with its statutory requirements in connection with the claim.

It held further that there is no statutory authority for the right of appeal on a question of this type, and therefore it had no jurisdiction to hear an appeal on the question. Consequently, it affirmed payment of benefits to Keefer, and dismissed the appeal insofar as it pertained to the granting of information to the employer or his agent.

Result

Result of the opinion is that employers, who pay the taxes for unemployment insurance, and who are naturally interested in checking on employees who file benefit claims, are denied the right to determine whether these employees have had subsequent employment and the circumstances surrounding their unemployment, and are even denied the right to appear before the board to show cause for obtaining the information.

A mandamus proceeding in court, therefore, probably would be the only way in which an employer could be heard.

SEVENTEENTH DISTRICT C.C.P.T. REPORTS ON MEETING AT STANFORD

San Mateo county representatives will bring reports to their individual organizations in coming weeks about the study of "Youth in World Crises" held on August 15, 16 and 17 at Stanford University. Among the delegates was Mrs. G. J. Sirex of San Carlos, president of Seventeenth District California Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Sessions were chairmaned by Mrs. Rollin Brown of Los Angeles, past C.C.P.T. president and a director of the California Youth Authority which sponsored the workshop. Mrs. P. D. Bevil of Sacramento and Mrs. B. D. Ralston of Woodside, first and third vice-presidents of the C.C.P.T., were present as official state delegates.

For the P.T.A. Mrs. Ralston participated on a panel whose members were spokesmen of the various agencies concerned with youth counselling in this area. Mrs. Max Colwell of Pasadena, state college service chairman, assisted in leading discussion groups.

Conference topics, which began by defining the problem of community leadership for youth, included many situations requiring guidance of young people in civil life and the armed services. Outstanding speakers according to Mrs. Sirex were Professor Theodore Green of Yale University, Dr. A. John Bartky, dean of education at Stanford, and Professor H. B. McDaniel of Stanford.

Through the year Mrs. Sirex maintains a busy calendar with local and district PTA dates. For many allied organizations she serves in an advisory capacity, or as representative of the 20,692 district membership from the 71 local schools. Seventeenth district yearbooks for 1951-1952 are off the press, and Mrs. Sirex reminds local and district chairmen of opening events for the fall term.

On September 12 and 13 Mrs. Sirex attends the state board of managers meeting in San Francisco. From State Board she will bring Mrs. Robert Bogan of Los Angeles to San Mateo Friday, September 14, as speaker for the district's second annual parent education workshop at the Coyote PoPint campus of the Junior college. First fall district executive session convenes on Monday, September 17, in Burlingame High school Little Theatre.

MANY GIRLS ENJOY ACTIVITIES AT CAMP MATTRUP THIS SUMMER

Approximately 145 girls from the membership of the Daly City-Colma girl scouts and from the Daly City Recreation department enjoyed 10 wonderful days at Camp Mattrup from July 16 to July 27. Of this number 26 made over-night stays at the camp.

New activities included in the divertisements of the camp this year were horseback riding, archery and basket weaving. Cookouts were also on the agenda of the girls who were divided into groups of 16 for this pastime. Arts and crafts work was a major interest.

Although the Girl Scouts receive funds from the San Mateo county community chest, several treats were given them by Daly City organizations. The local Lions Club, the Women's Civic Club and employees of the city of Daly City were generous in feting the girls at the camp with additional pleasures.

It was for this reason the fund was created and modest sums are advanced to the graduates. Maizie Erixson, Alumni Chairman will be in charge of the evening. Refreshments will be served.

Red Cross Trains Aides To Help In Bomb Attacks

If atomic attack comes to California, sixty per cent of the casualties from an air burst will suffer flash or other type burns.

This revelation was made Monday by the Office of Civil Defense in its weekly statewide broadcast.

"The work the American Red Cross is now doing in trraining citizens of California in first aid may save thousands of lives if we suffer atomic attack upon our big cities," declared Maj. Gen. Walter M. Robertson, USA, (retired), State Director of Civil Defense.

First aid workers will ave to bear the brunt of the emergency burden, treating injuries "of every type imaginable," according to General Robertson, "from minor cuts and bruises to those so severe that, untended, they might prove fatal."

In response to the question, "what protection is there against heat radiations?" General Robertson said: "Heat rediations travel in straight lines. People caught in the open or indoors directly in line with open windows are most apt to suffer such burns. Light-colored, loose clothing offers some protection. Dark clothing absorbs rather than reflects heat waves. Consequently, it may burst into flames, causing a serious burn.

"The best protection is to get a solid object, a wall for example, between you and the direct heat rays."

Daly City Sports Women

By MRS. E. K. WHINNEN

Date for the Daly City Sportswomen's Lake Merced fishing trip and picnic has been set for August 26th, 11 a.m. Members, their families and friends will meet at the Lake Merced boat house, but will probably move to the other side of the lake where the barbecue pits are located to fry their fish or toast their hot dogs. Now if the weather should be warm and sunny this may prove to be one of the pleasant outings of the summer for the Club.

A word of warning though, Sportswomen; don't go out there and land any of those big seven pounders if you want to keep Papa happy through the picnic! If you should be so unlucky, throw him back, (the fish, I mean) and just tell your lord and master and friends, about the "big one," that got away. 'Twould never do to confrront him with the evidence.

All joking aside, though, a big seven pounder was pulled out of the lake the first week of August by some lucky fisherman, and reported at the 7th District Council meeting on August 2. The big fish are really in there.

But back to the Sportswomen's meeting. The turn out for the last meeting, August 18, was almost unbelievable for summer time. A 66 and 2/3 per cent turnout is almost unbelieveable for any club, any time—Sportswomen, take a bow!

The next event of interest on the Sportswomen's calendar, is the dinner, scheduled for September 14, at the Normandie, 1326 Powell.

Those attending the dinner will meet at Mildred Whinnen's, 884 Brunswick st., at 6 p.m. in order to be at the restaurant at 7 o'clock. Marge Lynch and Irene Maloney have agreed to take their cars for transportation for the group. If any member who was not at the last meeting plans to go, please call Mildred Whinnen, JU. 4-6988, to arrange for transportation and reservations. The sooner, the better, of course.

Names of members eligible for office was read to the group at the last meeting so that some thought might be given to nomination of new officers in September. Requirements for any Sportswomen to be eligible for office are as follows: To have belonged to the Club one year at the time of nomination, and to have attended eight of the twelve regular meetings held during the year.

These may seem like strict requirements in such a small club, but experience proved that they were necessary. Members eligible for office are as follows: Marge Lynch, Leanora O'Neill, Mary Sullivan, Irene Mahoney, Laurien Fox, Frances Nenstiel, Jo Flansburg, and Mildred Whinnen. Nominations will be in order at the September meeting.

The Sportswomen regret the loss of a good member, Marion Mckaskle, who is moving to Los Angeles. Marion was a new member and had recently been appointed as delegate to 7th District Council, to replace Mary Shalkowski, who resigned last fall. Daly City's loss is Los Angeles' gain. Vivian Crispi has been named delegate to fill the vacancy.

Those who went on the Bay boat trip last month reported it a fine trip and a lovely way to spend a pleasant afternoon. The trip is quite comprehensive, touching all the points of interest.

It was a beautiful day down on the water, warm and sunny, but up on the Gate bridge the fog was so thick the cars were crawling along. Just under the bridge where the boat turns towards Richardson's Bay, it was a bit rough, and the spray shot went up over the bridge of the boat, but it afforded the sightseers a thrill of pleasure, and for those on deck a bit of a shower, too.

Three of the Sportswomen helped serve the Daly City Rod and Gun club a fine fish dinner, last month, down at Ed Meierding's. Ed caught the fish himself and they were in fine variety. Mostly salmon, but also catfish and some other kind.

Virginia Meierding, ex-Sportswoman, did a wonderful job on that dinner. About thirty Rod and Gun men answered the mess call, and were served by Laurien Fox, Frances Nenstiel, Mildred Whinnen of the Sportswomen, and prospective member, Siema Pearlman. The men took aboard a considerable load of fish and seemed quite pleased with it all.

Seventh District Council had such a long and well-filled meeting the second, it will only be possible to give a few highlights. One has already been mentioned, the report of a seven pound trout being caught by Earl Gardner.

Mayor Robinson from San Francisco was there and seemed much interested in further developing fishing for kids at Lake Merced. So much so in fact, he donated $20 for fishing gear for the kids. Some of you may not know that the Recreation Department in San Francisco has tied up its program to Lake Merced fishing for the kids, and that groups from various playgrounds are taken each Monday to the lake for fishing.

Many of these kids are too poor to buy equipment to fish with or their parents aren't interested enough to do so, hence the donations for equipment for this group.

The Daly City Recreation Department might contact San Francisco's Recreation Department on this to see if similar arrangements might be made for Daly City's kids next summer. In many cases, it is the only chance to fish some of these kids will ever get.

Warden Yuna reported that many bank fishermen are being noted in the restricted areas—mostly children. Many adults were fishing without permits too. Two stolen cars were found by the patrols—a Buick and a Ford—they were reported to the police.

Two boys drove an old Ford jalopy across the wooden foot bridge right into the arms of Warden Yuna, so to speak, and he made them turn around and drive right back again. He said he didn't see how they ever made it in the first place.

The big trout are eating the little trout or "fingerlings," as they are called, out at Lake Merced, and Mayor Robinson suggested it may be necessary to fence part of the lake off to raise the fingerlings till they are past the danger size.

The Mayor complimented Jimmy Fox, chairman of the Seventh District, and the District in general, on the fine work that's been done and ended his talk with the statement, "Now if anyone has a question to fire at me, fire ahead! I'll either answer it or duck it." Always the politician, the Mayor.

Court St. Marys Reconvenes After Summer Recession

Last Thursday evening with a large group present, grand regent Mrs. Richard J. Ennis opened the meeting of Court St. Mary, Catholic Daughters of America, after a summer recess of several months.

A full program outline for the remainder of the year was given by Mrs. Ennis especially in the fields of social welfare, Christian Confraternity and Extension.

Plans were made to celebrate the court's twenty-first anniversary, September 13. Banquet reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Fred J. Wettstein (chairman) at ATwater 2-4218.

Next quarterly whist was announced to be held at the Masonic Hall, 17 Hillcrest Drive, Daly City, September 6 at 8 p.m., with Mrs. Christine Michelson and Mrs. F. J. Wettstein as chairman of the evening, with the public invited to attend.

The meeting was then closed with refreshments following, served by the chairman, Mrs. J. Core and her committee.

STATE FAIR HAS FULL SCHEDULE OF ENTERTAINMENT

California's multi-million dollar State Fair, which this year is placing the accent on youth, opens Thursday, August 30, for an eleven-day autumnal festival of unparalleled scope and entertainment.

Brimming with a thousand-and-one features, the 1951 edition of the Fair, the state's 92nd, will swing into joyous action with the Opening Day ceremonies set for 10 a.m. These ceremonies will center around the great redwood statue of "Youth" on The Mall in front of the main entrance to the Counties Building. Top state and Fair officials will participate in the impressive ceremonies along with Carroll Barnes, who fashioned the statue; Patricia Lehman, "Miss California," and thousands of youngsters.

At the conclusion of the ceremonies Fairgoers may inspect the wonders concentrated on the 207-acre site, beautifully landscaped for the big show.

The wide expanse of barns will be packed with purebred livestock, in competition for thousands of dollars in premiums. The colorful and ingenious exhibits of 38 counties, together with those of many foreign nations and the Wine Institute, will fill the Counties Building to overflowing.

Elsewhere on the grounds will be hundreds of horses, the equine performers in the Horse Show and the races. And on Sundays the race horses will give way to rocket-like speedboats.

Exhibits, varied and interesting, may be found in the great exhibit palaces, ranging from hobbies to atomic energy.

Work of scores of California artists will be on exhibit at the Open Air Art Show, augmented by a Hand-loom Fabric Fashion Show and the showing of color transparencies.

Millions of blooms will be on display at the gorgeous Flower Show and nearby will be dozens of public service exhibits. The Armed Services exhibit, formerly in this area, because of its larger size thi year, has been moved to a locality near the 4-H buildings.

Among the new attractions this year will be the comprehensive Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company exhibit in Governor's Hall and the California Junior Museum, which will provide an exciting lesson in natural history.

Daily free vaudeville shows, and concerts and special events will add to the gaiety of the exposition.

Night activities will be ushered in by spectacular fireworks. These, attractions in addition to the Horse Show, include the dazzling Pagent of California Fashions and the Night Theatrical Spectacles, headlining such sterling performers as Jerry Colonna, The Sons of Pioneers and Dennis Day. They will star in the three units of the night shows—Circus Days, Dude Ranch Days and A Night in Bagdad—all with strong supporting casts.

CLEANING UP JOB YIELDS GRENADE

Sometimes cleaning up your premises can be a very risky business as Sam Gisnet, 7244 Mission street, discovered Sunday.

Gisnet came across a fragmentation grenade as he was cleaning up his shop. Immediately he notified the Daly City police who in turn called the San Francisco presidio.

The following day the Japanese hand grenade was turned over to Sergeant A. F. Dicke, ordinance expert from the Presidio. It is thought that the grenade was brought back from the war zone as a souvenir and somehow got misplaced.

Plans Call For Second Folk Dance Festival To Be Outstanding Event

Inspired by the spectacular growth of folk and square dance clubs in northern California, those at the helm of arrangements for the second annual folk dance festival to be held at the Jefferson Union high school or Labor Day are sparing no effort to make this event one of colorful and fascinating entertainment.

All persons interested in folk and square dancing, whether they are active participants or not are cordially invited to this festival which is sponsored by the Daly City Recreation department.

Hours for the festival are from 1:30 to 5:30 in the afternoon, and from 7:30 to 10:30 at night. During these times there will be an alternation of folk and square dancing for the general public and a series of exhibition dances.

More than 300 invitations have been sent out to the various northern California folk and square dance clubs to take part in this festival and it is the hope of those in charge that representative groups will come from as far north as Crescent City, and as far south as Monterey, the two outlying posts of the northern California district.

Those who will officiate as callers at the festival are Randy Randolph, Jack Eankay and Jack McKay, of San Francisco, the latter two from the Square Cutters Club; Charles Reindollar and Charles Bassett of Marin County, and Bill Castner of Berkeley. Castner is president of the folk dancers of the northern section.

Spirit Of Friendliness Reigns At Dance Given By Broadmoor Neighbors

Friendliness and the spirit of festivity dominated at the barn dance given Saturday night at Colombo hall in Colma by the neighbors of the Broadmoor district.

Proceeds from the event which attracted several hundred persons will be used to defray expenses of the Village Play School scheduled to open sometime in September at the Colma Community Center.

Decorations were in consistency with the theme of the party which was further stressed in the informal cotton dresses worn by the women guests and the jeans and sport shirts worn by the men attending.

Refreshments were headlined by twelve inch frankfurters and included as well donuts and soft drinks.

Merritt Beckerman was master of ceremonies, while music for the dancing was provided by the Daly City Cowboys Orchestra. On the program committee for the dance were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Phillips and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Green. The refreshment committee consisted of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Mitchell and Lawrence Phillips.

Although the Village Play School will not open for a few weeks yet, orientation courses for mothers who will aid the play school teacher, began this week at the Garden Village school. The teacher is Mrs. Honorah Wade.

The Village Play School will enroll as many children as it can handle from Daly City, Colma, Broadmoor and Westlake.

TALK OF THE TOWN

By DIANE DALY

The day of the conquering pioneer of the western territories may indeed be fading into mellow history, but if anyone doubts there are pioneers in this day and age, they might look a little closer and discover creditable antecedents of the spirit which built our nation.

A very real and earthy example can be seen from many a highway and by-way, where homes in various stages of development are nevertheless housing their indomitable builders. These "pioneers" are beating the high cost of home ownership by using old fashioned elbow grease, enterprise and objective planning. To say nothing of patience, perseverance and a much needed sense of humor. From the Williams highway one can view the amusing spectacle of a whole family living in their half-constructed adobe with apparent nonchalance and serenity. The very latest in appliances; stove, refrigerator, hotwater heater and steel kitchen units gleam with sparkling contrast against the wood skeleton which supports the almost completed roof. Other than that, their lives are truly an "open book" which makes for pretty courageous reading.

Other pioneers of our day are the numbers of citizens who would dare remain individual, in spite of tremendous assaults on our intellect and reason, by those who would force upon us the Babbitt-like tastes and products, be they vegetable, animal or mineral, which by sheer repetitive suggestion, and a vastly misleading set of standards many fall victim. I am not speaking of honestly advertised products, (of which there are the largest majority), but also of ideas and theories which have no basis in either fact or commonsense.

The most glaring example I know of is the so-called "Modern Art," which has been fostered on the American public to the extent of civic nausea. These daubers and abstractionists have actually sold the biggest bill of goods in history. In most cases the authors freely admit that they themselves had no subject in mind to inspire the painting, yet to critics or laymen who do not find their art acceptable, they rave and rant that the viewer is out of step, not the artist. And then they have the collosal crust to agitate for government subsidy!

The childrens fairy tale of the "Emperer who wore no Clothes," parallels to a great degree this fiasco, with the title role played by the curators of our largest and best known Galleries. The reputed value of some of these frightful monstrosoties, is incredulous in the face of the fact that rarely, if ever, anyone ever buys this brand of culture, except conceiveably to get rid of a mother-in-law, to frighten babies—even the authors themselves cannot live with them, and keep them crated in cupboards or in the attic.

The pioneers on the cultural front still go to see and buy reproductions of the old masters ignoring the steadily growing scrap heap of garish canvasses and distorted masses available. They still thrill to the efforts of the talented musicians, and delight in the unbelievable grace of the interpretive ballet, and applaud generously a new and potential voice—but despair at the contribution present day artists will leave behind them. Stark rertrogression in an era of progress.

While talking of pioneers, one could not exclude the medical profession, which has made tremendous strides ahead, with their research resulting in "miracle drugs." In the past five years especially, relief has been felt in quarters once doomed to be "incurable." Many lives have been salvaged, and many more will be.

Courage, fortitude and commonsense, the badge of the pioneer, is more necessary today than ever before. Just because the "Jones" do it! is no reason for blind conformity, nor will any trumped up sense of values ever succesfully endure. Today is a challenge to young mothers and fathers who can and will conscientiously guide their children across the deserts of adolescence, pioneering them through the pampered age and circumstances in which they live to become self-reliant forthright and enterprising young people with their pioneer spirit intact.

Broadmoor Artist To Submit Entry In San Mateo Art Show

Self-styled exponent of conservative painting Larry Green, 631 Manila Way, will submit an entry for the forthcoming San Mateo County Fair fine arts show to be held September 21-29.

Interested in oil painting as a hobby and engaged in mural work as a profession, Mr. Green is undecided as to what canvas he will enter in the juried art show.

Within the last 15 years he has completed approximately 25 oils, many of which are decorating the homes of admiring relatives.

All of his artistic capabilities are self-attained. His inspirational talents were encouraged by his artist mother, but he never attended an art school for instruction.

A member of the Society of Western Artists, Mr. Green has entered numerous art shows on the peninsula and at the De Young and San Francisco museums.

One of his oils, "Night-Shift," which depicts Marinship during the war, won honorable mention at the 1950 state fair in Sacramento. The Society of Western Artists also won first and second prizes in both the oil and the water color competition at the State Fair.

"On the night of the deadline for my Night-Shift entry, one of my children added a few crayon touches to the painting," Mr. Green recalled.

"Luckily I was able to catch the mistake in time, but I had to submit the painting while it was still wet."

"I use my home as a studio," Mr. Green pointed out, "and I find it very difficult to do my work with a family of three youngsters."

"Sometimes I shift from one canvas to another when I lose my patience or I feel that I've gone stale on one subject," said Mr. Green.

Two of Mr. Green's three children—Phillip, 12, and Meredith, 7, have shown an interest in art, but Russell, 5, is yet without an appreciation for art.

As a shipfitter at Marinship during World War II, Mr. Green became interested in industrial subjects for his oil on canvas paintings.

Although most husbands do not like back-seat driving on their wives' parts, Mr. Green believes that his wife is his most valid critic.

At the present time he is seeking to enlarge his scope as a muralist. He has painted murals in San Francisco night clubs and in private residences. His largest mural was a 75 foot long floral and tropical scene masterpiece.

"In the Fall I hope to paint desert scenes in oil," he said wistfully.

Council To Arrange For Public Funds Use

With $35,000 of the $85,000 Christmas tree fund already allocated, members of the Daly City council will go to Sacramento Friday to arrange for the public use of the rest of the money.

The $35,000 will be spent in the Northern San Mateo sanitation district for sewerage disposal facilities.

VETS PURCHASE MORE NEW HOMES

Sacramento, Aug. 23. (CNS)—Increase in the number of veterans purchasing homes through state-financed contracts was predicted today by D. J. Callaghan, director of the department of veterans affairs.

Callaghan said at the close of business June 30, veterans in San Mateo county were purchasing 751 homes at a contract price of $4,991,094, as compared to 616 at $3,876,843 the same time a year ago.

The department director declared the authorization for increases in the amount the state can loan from $7,500 to $8,500, and the amount of appraised value from $10,000 to $11,500 would result in increased buying.

San Francisco State College Athletic Facilities On Lake Merced Campus Are Now Being Used

Although many of the buildings on the Lake Merced campus of San Francisco State College are just under construction, and the final project will not be completed until the early months of 1953, the gymnasium and most of the athletic facilities are finished and in use.

Last December the gym was officially opened, and after that all of the home basketball games were played in the men's gym. Folding bleachers furnish a seating capacity of 1,720.

In the eastern half of the building is another gym for the women. In the basement below this gym the heating plant for the entire campus is housed. The men's and womne's locker rooms have radiant heat, which keeps the concrete floors warm.

Classrooms, and offices are included in the building, which cost $1,163,600.

The swimming pool is 42 feet by 75 feet, a size large enough to meet requirements for national record attempts. Along side of the pool is a bleacher of 290 seats.

Since last football season concrete bleachers have been constructed at Cox Field. They provide 5,565 seats. The field has been lighted since 1948. Located in a natural bowl, fog tends to rise above the field making visibility normal on the foggiest days.

KUCHEL REQUESTS STATE-WIDE COMMITTEE TO STUDY TAX EQUALIZATION AND ASSESSMENTS

Sacramento, Aug. 23. (CNS)—A request that the state board of equalization sponsor a state-wide committee on assessment standards and property tax equalization was made by State Controller Thomas H. Kuchel, ex-officio member of the board, in a resolution introduced today.

Under board rules, the resolution may not be acted on for a month.

The resolution is the result of the Board's action in refusing to equalize assessments on common and utility property throughout the state, an action which Kuchel supported strongly when it was being argued.

In his resolution, Kuchel said there is a demand on the part of the public for equalization of assessments. He urged that membership on the committee come from all levels of government, state, city, county and district and that the League of California Municipalities and the County Supervisor's Association have representation.

Uniformity should be sought, the resolution says, for fair allocation of state-collected funds, limits on tax rates, fair apportionment of tax burdens when property in the same district is taxed in different counties and fair distribution of the burdens of government between holders of like properties in the several counties.

LOCAL MAJORETTES PERFORM AT GAME

Majorettes at the Jefferson Union high school entertained during the half at last Sunday's football game between the San Francisco 49ers and the Washington Redskins at Kezar stadium.

The girls were Dixie Schultheis and Corinne Noble. Besides their numbers with the batons, Corinne also entertained with a special acrobatic Indian dance in honor of the visiting team. Dixie's specialty acts comprised extra feats with the baton.

Colma Mayor's Son Injured In Accident

Harry Price, son of Mayor and Mrs. John H. Price of 211 F street, Colma, was injured Tuesday when the bicycle he was riding collided with a car driven by William Hendrickson, 750 Andover street, at Mission and aMrket streets.

Young Price was rushed to the Junipero Serra hospital in a Daly City ambulance. There it was discovered that he had sustained contusions of the left thigh for which he was treated and then permitted to leave.

San Francisco's Nob Hill received its name from the "Nabobs," nickname of the Comstock millionaires who once lived there.

San Mateo Floral Show To Exhibit New Dahlia

Dirk C. Schroder, head landscape gardener at Stanford University has developed a new dahlia which he has named the "Dee See," and which he will exhibit September 21-29 at the San Mateo County Fair and Floral Fiesta.

Three of the blooms from this plant which he displayed recently at a meeting of the East Palo Alto Gardeners' Association, measured an average of twelve inches in diameter and with a depth of six inches.

The "Dee See" will be introduced on the market in 1952, Schroder said. It is somewhat of gold in color, of fluffy texture and has an exceptionally strong stem.

LITTLE "JOKER" IS DISCOVERED IN ASSEMBLY BILL

Sacramento, Aug. 23. (CNS)—A little "joker" is Assembly Bill 2005, which governs the use of the state's 5,300 passenger automobiles, has been discovered. While the "joker" probably will not hamper the control of state automobile by the department of finance, it nevertheless dampens the work this department has accomplished during the past couple of years in keeping state cars in state garages.

The measure, by Assemblyman Marvin I. Sherwin, of Oakland, chairman of the Assembly ways and means committee, contains a clause which gives the department the right to assign space only under its own jurisdiction for night storage of these state cars.

And this clause, according to officials of the Department, has cut down the certified overnight storage facilities for state cars from 3,507 to 861. All of which is somewhat disheartening to the department, as it could, if other department choose not to co-operate, lose much of the control it has enjoyed for the benefit of the taxpayer, over the night storage of the state's cars.

Control of state cars became necessary several years ago when it waes divulged that many state officials were using public vehicles to drive to and from work. The situation was bad enough in Sacramento to create an additional traffic hazard.

The legislature, after lengthy studies, moved into the picture and in a budget bill, ruled that unless state officials had a special permit from the Department of Finance, they could leave the public's automobiles in the state garage and ride home on the bus.

Pre-Inductees Can Enlist In U. S. Navy

The Navy Recruiting Station in San Mateo announced today that Pre-Inductees can enlist in the Navy. According to Chief Hallfarth, the deadline has been extended until September 1st.

By Pre-Inductees we mean that mean who have received draft board notices to report for their pre-induction physical, but NOT ORDERS for actual induction into the service.

Chief Hallfarth says the Navy has over 30 trade training schools for which many of the young men are eligible, and 62 major job fields for which they are eligible.

Visit your Navy Recruiting Station today. Remember! You are under no obligation. The Recruiting Station is located in the Post Office Bldg., San Mateo.

Good Construction Lowers Home Costs

Look beyond the price tag when purchasing a home. Although attractively priced, a house is a good buy only if its construction assures economical maintenance and operation. The important details can be ascertained by inspection at various stages of the building operations.

With either a basement or crawl space, the center of the house should be supported by wood or steel columns or masonry piers topped with a steel girder or heavy beam. Subflooring laid diagonally provides greater strength, and joists should be braced at intervals with X-shaped bridging.

The roof should be of fire-resistant material, such as asphalt shingles which protect most American homes and farm buildings. Asphalt shingles are applied over a smooth, solid roof deck. An asphalt saturated felt is nailed to the roof deck before the shingles are applied. The most popular asphalt shingle is the three-tab square-butt shingle. The three-in-one shingle, economical to apply, is designed for five-inch exposure to the weather. In areas where high winds are to be expected, use of a quick-setting cement to fasten down the tabs is recommended.

Another sign of good constuction is sheathing applied diagonally instead of horizontally. This gives the walls more strength and usually indicates the builder will be particular about other details. Doors and windows should not stick or bind and stairs should be level and firm with no vibration under foot.

Daly City Serviceman Does Not Want City's Name Changed To Vista Grande

(Ed Note: Pfc Alex Sola is speaking about the campaign conducted by W. F. Strong to change Daly City's name back to Vista Grande.)

Dear Editor:

I received The Record today (August 19) and I see that people are still trying to change the name of Daly City.

I, for one, like that name. I was born in Daly City and it would be hard to get used to the name of "Vista Grande."

It was stated that people used to be ashamed to say that they lived in Daly City—I wonder if they still do.

My history on John D. Daly is slight, but they must have had a good reason to name the city after him.

My uncle started a store in Daly City after the "Great" fire of 1906. Some of the tales which I have heard my uncle tell were about Daly City and not Vista Grande.

That's all I know the city by and I hope its the same when I get home from the service.

I sincerely hope this letter does not cause any ill-feelings toward anyone; as you said, it's strictly up for comment.

"Off The Record"

By Roy Hurlbert

MARCHIE

Stanford's Marchie Schwartz took an unexplainable powder from coaching duties last winter "for private business."

At the time the handsome ex-Notre Dame backfield ace made his decision, we scratched our head asking, how come? Why should a man give up such a setup for private enterprise?

The administration had just laid out a velvet carpet for Schwartz, presenting him with a considerable, five-year contract. Yet the man does an about face and quits The Farm. That's gratitude for you.

Alumni pressure couldn't have influenced Marchie to throw in his crying towel. Things were looking up for Stanford as of last season. The '50 Indians finished with 5-3-1, hardly a blackeye. Schwartz got darn good results with the tools at hand. Stanford's three reverses were to U.C.L.A., 21-7; Washington, 21-7; Army, 7-0. All good outfits. No need for the Indians to be ashamed. Ties with Southern California and California, both 7-7 affairs, were the only other sad items on the Stanford record.

Point is, the college boys from Palo Alto were but a whisper away from Pasadena last autumn. A little more effort plus breaks, here and there, and it might have been Rose Bowl. The way Stanford played in the Big Game, we think they could have given Michigan a stiff argument. But that's mere speculation.

Anyway, Stanford had a good season. Alibis weren't needed Schwartz had no cause to be uneasy. Very few tabbed the Red Shirts for the conference championship.

This year the PCC race is wide-open. California is odds-on again, but Washington, U.C.L.A. and Stanford should be bunched like grapes. One of the latter three will hit the Rose Bowl, since Pappy Waldorf's Golden Bears won't be invited.

Stanford figures to be better. Although 13 key lettermen are gone, there are 26 lads back. Chuck Taylor still has a strong nucleus with McColl, Kerkorian and Hagasian. And his coaching staff is stronger with the addition of Joe Ruetz, St. Mary's exile.

Schwartz didn't attempt to beat the rap. Stanford again has the material. No need to fear a dismal campaign. But the sixty-four dollar question, why, oh why, Marchmont, did you leave?

Thumbing the books, we added up Schwartz' report card at Stanford. Marchie's six-year effort in Palo Alto reads 27 wins, 28 losses, 4 ties. By season, thusly:

1942	6	4	0
1946	6	3	1
1947	0	9	0
1948	4	6	0
1949	6	3	1
1950	5	3	2

Four out of six were "winning" seasons.

Last Sunday at Kezar we saw Marchie grin with satisfaction while the 49ers stopped the Redskins. He came equipped, at that. With pencil and paper he charted plays. Wonder why? Could it be habit or interest. Maybe he's working as a part-time scout for another pro club.

We don't think Mr. Schwartz is long for the busines sworld. He'll get the itch and before long, it'll be Coach Schwartz again. Wait and see.

Old coaches never die, either. They just relax, then, come back for more.

JOE VERDUCCI

Joe Verducci, of the Daly City coaching fraternity, will get very little shut-eye this autumn with football on tap. Verducci will be whipping his San Francisco State college gridders into shape for a big, ten-game schedule, the best in State's history.

Verducci' '50 Gaters lost but two games, a post-season bowl game to Lewis & Clark college of Portland, Oregon, and a 40-21 thriller to Whittier.

This time out, SF State has a rough row to hoe. Added to the usual schedule are games with San Diego State and Fresno State.

State abandoned the Far West conference in order to build up as an "independent."

49ers

By all indications, the Forty-Niners will have a better season this time. Their biggest asset is the schedule, not so bad as last year.

The exhibitions will provide a good buildup. Following this Sunday's clash with the Chicago Bears, Frankie Albert and Co. wade into Pittsburgh, Green Bay and the Chicago Cardinals. None of the three is a powerhouse. All games are on the road.

By the time the '49ers are ready to start the league season against the Cleveland Browns in Kezar, September 30, they should be ready. Probably they'll have two or three wins to their credit before they start playing for keeps. Lot different from last year when Buck Shaw's men met the bullies first, then were all corked out and deep in the second division by midseason.

Meeting the Browns at home, in the opener, is a break. Anything can happen, you know!

Announce Results Singles Horseshoe Tournament

By Harry Aronson

On Wednesday evening, August 15 the Daly City Recreation Department held a men's singles horseshoe tournament at Marchbanks Park new horseshoe pits. The matches were decided on a basis of the best two out of three games.

In the first round L. Kennedy defeated W. H. Franks 50 to 48 and 50 to 42. Mike Orlich won over W. Maloney by scores of 50 to 14 and 50 to 19. Swede Anderson stopped Larry Shaw in two straight games 50 to 3 and 50 to 16. McLeod and Vic Varni had to play three games to decide the winner. Varni won his game by the slim margin of 50 to 49, with McLeod taking the two other games by scores of 50 to 28 and 50 to 41.

By mutual agreement, the semi-final games were reduced to 21 points because of the time element. L. Kennedy tangled with M. Orlich winning the first contest 21-14. Orlich took the next two 21-17 and 21-16 placing him in the finals.

The other semi-final match between Anderson and McLeod found the two masters deadlocked at the end of two games with Anderson winning the first match 21-17 and McLeod nosing out the Swede 21-18. Due to darkness the deciding game was played on Friday evening at 6:30 p.m. McLeod emerged victorious by a 21-18 count, thus enabling him to meet Mike Orlich for the championship.

McLeod, by this time was "hot," and wasted little time copping the title by scores of 50-37 and 50-38. McLeod was presented with a gold trophy and Mike Orlich received the runner-up ribbon.

The men who participated in the tournament expressed a desire to have more of the same in the near future, so all of you horseshoe enthusiasts get those horseshoes out of the mothballs and start practicing.

The liquors ganged-up on opposing pitcher Swonden for 14 safeties. Third baseman Greys, and center fielder Giancchini, center-fielder, each made three hits to lead the liquors' attack.

Sarto A. C. Beats Puerto Rico Nine

Pitcher G. Quinones of the Sarto A. C. nine aided his own cause Sunday by getting two of his team's seven hits as Sartos defeated Puerto Rico 8-1.

The Puerto Ricans were able to get only three hits and their one run. Rosa and Torres who shared the pitching chores for Puerto Rico, each made one hit.

HUNTING MISHAPS ACCOUNT FOR 19 DEATHS IN 1950

With the first of California's series of hunting seasons under way, the State Division of Fish and Game has announced the cost in human life and limb of last year's search for game.

Nineteen California nimrods lost their lives in 1950 and non-fatal firearms accidents accounted for 54 injuries. The figures are compiled from newspaper clippings and fish and game warden reports.

Deaths due to heart attacks, drownings, and mishaps other than gunshot wounds claimed 8 of the 19 lives lost in 1950.

Casualty figures showed a sharp drop from California's 1948 report, when its 89 accidents topped all states in the Nation. Twenty-four hunters were killed from all causes in the field in 1949, with 38 hunting deaths reported in 1948.

Most unusual accident last year caused the death of 15-year-old Kenneth Brown of Napa. With a companion, Brown came upon a flock of feeding wild geese. In a vain attempt to make the birds fly, he swung his shotgun like a club and accidentally discharged it into his chest.

More than half of the year's fatal gunshot wounds were inflicted by persons under the age of 21, according to the Division of Fish and Game.

WESTSTATES PITCHER HURLS ONE-HIT BALL, BEATS SATANS 11-0

Behind the one-hit pitching of Brooks Nelson, the Weststates Realty beat the Satans Atheletic Club by a score of 11-0.

Hitting power was supplied by Bert Jones, Tom O'Hara, and Bob Norry, all of whom delievered in the clutch to drive in runs.

Morello, Satan right-fielder spoiled Nelson's no-hit, no-run game as the Weststates collected 10 safeties to support their pitchers mound performance.

Mananger Charles Norry of Weststates Realty will announce a future sponsor who will take over the present Weststates team.

August 12 Weststates Realty defeated Hallorans Log Cabin by a score of 4-3.

Softball Teams Play Fast Games

By Harry Aronson

Tuesday, August 14, the Colma Firemen defeated the Collins St. Boys 32-6. Each member of the Firemen's team collected two or more hits. The leading slugger was third baseman Masini with 5 for 7. The batting star for the Boys team was short stop Figone with 3 for 4. The Colma team set a record when they amassed a total of 31 hits for the game.

The action on Diamond No. 2 almost duplicated the score between the Firemen and the Collins St. Boys. Club 21 trounced the Eagles 31-5. However the Eagles did manage to hold Club 21 to 20 hits. Lou Drago, classy first baseman for Club 21, took batting honors with a 4 for 6 including a home run.

Thursday, August 16, the Mercury Plumbers proved they were the best in the league by downing the hard hitting Contractors 13-11 in an exciting game. The battle was by far the best of the season featuring fine defensive play and sharp hitting by both teams. Dan Wong, fleet footed left fielder for the Plumbers, made several nifty catches to stop the slugging Contractors.

The Contractors took the lead in the first inning by a 5-3 count, but the Plumbers playing as the Champs of the league, went out in front in the second frame on a hitting spree which accounted for 7 runs. They added 3 more in the fifth inning to assure them a victory. The Contractors came back in the sixth to explode with four hits and 6 runs to keep the Plumbers hustling, but it was not enough to overcome the two run margin.

Tom Tromborg, Lue Berjack and Herb Frost blasted home runs for the Plumbers, while R. Dempsey socked two triples and a single to lead the Contractors at the plate. The Contractors scored their 11 runs on the same number of hits while the Mercury team collected 13 runs on 12 hits.

CALIFORNIA HUNTERS TO STALK ANTELOPE DURING SEPTEMBER

It's all over now but the shooting. The biennial selection of permits to hunt antelopes has been held, and there are about 11,840 disappointed California hunters who didn't make the grade.

A total of 12,390 licensed hunters sent in their applications to take part in this year's pronghorn hunt. Including alternates, 550 names were drawn out of the hat recently by organized sportsmen's representatives.

The California Fish and Game Commission set the hunt on schedule after it was found that the Modoc and Lassen counties populations could stand a harvest of about 400 animals. (The Division of Fish and Game reveals that 'lope hunters are somewhere between 60 and 75 per cent successful.)

An additional 100 antelopes will be live-trapped by the Division and transplanted in Mono County.

The 10-day controlled hunting season begins September 1. Participating hunters will pay a $7 special permit fee.

Albert E. Miller of Westwood was the first hunter to be selected in the every-other-year drawing. Permit No. 2 went to George J. Check of Costa Mesa.

California's water use for domestic, agricultural and industrial purposes is approximately 20,000-acre-feet annually.

Hunters Cautioned About Loaded Guns In Safety Posters

"Watch your step with a loaded gun" is the general theme of a series of six colored hunting safety posters now being distributed by the California Division of Fish and Game.

The 12 by 18-inch drawings bear admonitions to "look before you shoot," keep your gun clean," and "watch that muzzle." The poster campaign is sponsored jointly by the State agency and the Sporting Arms and Ammunition Manufacturers' Institute.

A set of six individual posters will be mailed without charge to sportsmen's groups, license agents, and other organizations engaged in safety education, on written request to the Division of Fish and Game, Ferry Building, San Francisco.

STATE PLANTS FISH TO FEED BLACK BASS

One of nature's strange requrements—little fish to feed big fish—has been provided by the California Division of Fish and Game for hungry black bass of the Colorado River.

In its continuous program to provide better fishing in the area, the Bureau of Fish Conservation this month planted 8,000 golden shiner minnows in Lake Havasu.

Cooperative studies made in the past year by biologists of California and Arizona fish and game departments indicate that one reason for the decline in Lake Havasu bass fishing is a shortage of forage fish. Junior Biologist Richard D. Beland of California reported that seining operations show a lack of sunfish or other food fish for the bass.

From about three months of age until they die or are caught, largemouth bass need large numbers of small forage fish for their deveolpment, Beland explained.

Originally developed to provide water for upland game birds in the semi-arid regions of southern California, the 700-gallon rain-water traps have also been placed in such varied locations as the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys, and Lake and Inyo counties.

Here Comes The Ghost

by Ridgely Cummings

Lately I've been tentatively toying with a new occupation, that of ghost writer, and I'm wondering if I shouldn't have my head examined instead.

A few ghost writers like Bob Considine, Cameron Shipp and Charles Samuels, who did Ether Waters' autobiography, "His Eye is On The Sparrow," have made a name for themselves as well as a lot of cabbage. But by and large it is a thankless profession and one that I'm prejudiced against on general principles.

Why, I ask myself, should I beat my brains out putting little black letters down on nice white paper and have somebody else get all the credit? Why become an anonymous coolie of the typewriter to enhance the glory of the inarticulate?

Good questions? Nevertheless I have a weakness for cocktail parties and when I was invited to attend an elbow-bending affair for ghost writers, with the understanding that my attendance might result in my becoming one, I went along.

The party was held in the pleasant offices of the H. D. Ballenger Literary Agency, which are located on a block-long street pretentiously named Crossroads of the World, in Hollywood. Mr. Ballenger and his associate, Barbara Richards, were host and hostess.

The ghosts were assembled for the purpose of getting their pictures taken, probably for promotion purposes though I'm not too clear about that since I'm not sure how a ghost will remain a ghost with his portrait plastered hither and yon.

I was asked to wear something sportive since color shots as well as black and white were to be taken, so I put on a red shirt and yellow socks. You'd think that would make me stand out but I didn't have a chance alongside Tanagra Thayer, silent collaborator with Tiffany Thayer in "Call Her Savage" and other sensational novels. Miss Thayer was wearing scarlet, chartreuse, green and a scarf that would have made the Biblical Joseph envious.

Other ghosts in Mr. Ballenger's haunted house include Car Coolidge, Jon Edgar Webb, Virginia Tomlinson, Starr Paret, Ray Duncan (no relation to Isadora) and several other writers whose names I've forgotten.

We were photographed individually, hunched over a typewriter looking thoughtful, and in various groups.

I told Miss Richards she better not waste too much film on me because I was doubtful that I would remain a ghost writer very long. She said that was all right, I was under no obligation, that when some bid name, a sports or film personality, came into the office with an itch to write a book she would put him in touch with me and after I had heard the proposition I would be free to accept or refuse.

Mr. Ballenger calls the ghosting business "cooperative writing" and is enthusiastic about the possibilities of it expansion.

"Hollywood and environs seems to be a natural location for the inception of such a plan," he said.

"That is because it is to the film center that so many of the world's best and most prolific writers migrate."

Some of the world's worst writers migrate here too, but he didn't mention them. I suppose that is because they all get jobs with the movie studios grinding out "B" pictures.

Anyway my name is on the list and I'm waiting for Gary Cooper to ride over and ask me to write "Home on the Range" for him. Watch out cowboy, here comes the ghost.

Red Caution Signals On School Buses To Be Mandatory Under New State Law

(CNS)—At almost every session of the state legislature some progress is made toward highway safety despite the fact that more than 3,000 persons annually are killed on California's highways. It can be pointed out fairly that were it not for the progress in safety, that probably more persons would lose their lives in automobile accidents.

Protects Children

One of the new safety measures the state will try out beginning September 22 is further protection for the thousands of children throughout California who ride the school bus.

On that date, a new law goes into effect, and the California highway patrol through its commissioner, Clifford E. Peterson, wants to call the attention of the motoring public throughout the state to this new law.

The law itself is simple, it requires all school buses to be equipped with flashing red signal lights on the front and rear of the vehicle.

Motorists Must Stop

When the bus stops, and danger of striking a child exists, the driver actuates the lights. At this point, motorists are required by the law to come to a full stop, and remain stopped until the lights cease flashing.

Only one exception exists, and that is on a divided highway. When traffic is proceeding in the opposite direction, the motorist need not halt, as there would be no danger because of the division in the highway.

Under provisions of the law now in effect, when a school bus is stopped, a motorist is required to come to a full stop, and then may proceed at ten miles per hour.

Driver's Responsibility

Under the new law, however, almost the full responsibility for protecting the child, provided motorists observe the law, falls on the bus driver, who must use his judgement to determine when there is danger of striking a child. Assumedly, this would be when the bus stops to discharge children who must cross a busy highway to reach the school grounds.

Although the law is silent on the rate of speed in passing a bus which doesn't have flashing red lights, nevertheless other sections provide for slower speeds in school zones, and if these are observed, the danger to the child will be greatly minimized, even if the lights aren't flashing.

Peterson stresses the fact that this is a new law, and a new procedure. While he believes it will take the motoring public a little time to get used to the new operation, he nevertheless believes that with proper enforcement and education on the subject, the motorist will learn soon enough that there are still penalities for failure to observe the red lights.

Concern Parents

While protection for the school children is only one of the many safety problems confronted by the highway patrol, it is a problem uppermost in the minds of parents who trust their youngsters to the school district for transportation, and Peterson says that every precaution taken on behalf of the school travelers is well worth while.

Seek Speed-Up In Delivery Of Registration Cards

Sacramento, Aug. 23. (CNS)—Speed-up in the delivery of automobile registration cards is sought by the department of motor vehicles, A. H. "Gus" Henderson, director, said in a report to Governor Earl Warren here today.

Henderson said experiments have been made in three field offices on typing the documents when they are applied for, rather than sending the papers to Sacramento to have them run through the complicated bookkeeping machine process.

Experience to date, his report says, indicates that if the field typing procedure is followed, it will be possible to issue certificates of ownership and registration cards for new registrations including those for non-resident vehicles, within 48 hours.

The department, said Henderson, is studying the feasibility of extending the system throughout the state, and is seeking locations in which the service can be rendered without adding personnel.

Plans are being drawn to provide for issuance of certificates of new and non-resident registration at Los Angeles, Oakland and Sacramento for smaller branch offices which could not absorb the additional work load.

The Department about two years ago installed mechanical printers to issue the cards, and almost ever since, complaints have been received concerning delays in delivery of registrations.

Replace Old Roof To Prevent Damage

The roof is the first line of defense protecting your home in its constant battle with the elements.

No one questions the wisdom of putting a new set of tires on an automobile before the old ones wear out and endanger the safety of the driver and his passengers. Similarly, it is good sense for a home owner to replace old and battered roofing material with a new roof of asphalt shingles before rain and snow succeed in penetrating the roof deck.

Leaks in a roof frequently damage the inside of the house, and in time may rot and decay the roof boards. When this happens, re-roofing becomes difficult and costly.

It is important, therefore, to replace an old roof before it leaks, just as it is important to put on new tires before the first blowout.

D mand Increasing For Modern Furniture

The increasing popularity of ranch-type and contemporary modern architectural design and changing living habits are reflected in the growing demand for modern Provincial furniture.

Well-suited for today's casual, informal living are the many attractive designs in living, dining and bedroom furniture of durable hardwood veneers. Dual purpose furniture—pieces that can be used in different rooms and for more than one function—are especially popular. The wide variety of wood veneers in various color tones makes it easy to select pieces to harmonize with other furnishings to meet the changing trends in home design.

KATHLEEN NORRIS
Drug Menace

ANOTHER SCANDAL concerning teen-agers and drug-taking has broken loose in my native city of San Francisco recently, and the fathers and mothers of a certain group of high-school students are in the usual state of amazement and anger.

"Why on earth can't the authorities protect our children from this fearful thing?" they demand. And then, "How do they get it? Who gets it for them?"

Meanwhile, the guilty youngsters, with shamefaced pride, admit that they have been buying and consuming habit-forming poisons, and the two oldest members of the group, boys of 17, assert with winning frankness that drug-taking makes the girls more amenable to sexual approaches. All this on our front pages this week.

Now I would like to counterpoise two other questions to the two mentioned above. I would like to ask, first, what sort of parents are so delinquent that their children haven't been efficiently warned against marihuana and heroin, and second, where do the children get the money for drugs? Drugs are preposterously costly, because of the dangers of illicit peddling; 20 dollars do not go far in supplying even one addict. Where do those dollars come from?

Great Problem

Well, it's a great problem. What if all barriers were removed from the sale of these drugs? I am not advocating this but if such a proposal were made to end, once and for all, the smuggling and secrecy, much of the temptation of certain thrill-seeking teen-agers to violate the law would be removed, and it would certainly startle American parents into a state of mind where they themselves would have to strike at this evil at its very roots. Certain mental conditions and even physical illnesses are remedied by shock, and a proposal of this kind from a serious source would certainly be a shock.

". . . boys of 17 . . ."

The uproar unrestricted drug traffic would cause in this nation would make men and women realize that children are children, and they get their morals and their money from their parents. To turn a thousand rattlesnakes loose in a small country town would be to put every parent on the alert, and to subject every youngster to a drilling in self-protection that he never would forget.

And in the same way, when American parents decide that their children shall have neither the money nor the inclination to dump lethal poisons into their clean young bodies, then and then only will the death peddlers be done out of their criminal racket.

Protect the Young

We save the fingers of our babies from matches, from the pink pills with the death head on them. We save them from violent childish rages, from gluttony, from physical and mental uncleanliness, we save their teeth, their skins, we fight laziness and selfishness and dirty fingernails. We study expensive books on the subject of youthful jealousies and fixations.

But only to the extent that they trust us and believe us are our efforts successful. Children are all, of course, born with trying personal habits, with no sense of the sacredness of truth or of the possessions of others; they snatch, they hate, they spit, they kick, they scream, they lie, they steal. We coax and scold and train them to do better. The example of good parents, the counsel of a reasonable father, the serious warning of an intelligent mother—these are all they need to make them regard the filthy business of dope-peddling for what it is.

The child's protection is at home. But to the young man or woman the moment comes when that protection must be transferred to his own soul and mind. If then his tendency is toward weak, childish indulgence in what he has been told is dangerous and injurious, why, the more's the pity! But this matter should be strictly up to his parents primarily, and to himself as he grows into adult life.

It is easy to blame that nebulous and impersonal element known as "the authorities," the hardworking, devoted, scientific men and women who are doing their costly best to repair the oversights of neglectful parenthood. But the blame is not theirs. It lies nearer home. One narcotic authority told me that in a certain great city high school 11 hundred dollars had been spent by the students within a space of less than two months. From whence did it come? Not from your children?

DEAR PARENTS

By Jane Keith

Two years ago I was given an abrupt introduction to the Community Chest of San Mateo County by way of being made Residential Chairman for Daly City. It was a big job—and was successfully concluded only because my ignorance was exceeded ever so slightly by my enthusiasm!

At that time there were about 13,000 people in Daly City and, as I pounded pavements and made endless telephone calls appealing for more and more block workers, I found that every other one of those people had some kind of complaint!

"My husband gave at his work in San Francisco," was a very common one, as was, "What would the Chest do for me if I was down? Nothing, I'll bet!" and "Drives, drives, drives! I thought the Community Chest was started to STOP all of these separate drives!" These things were said to me and to my workers time and again and as the comments piled up—I began to do some serious thinking about the Chest. I knew that I had to learn a lot more about it before I could face another drive for money because every one of those complaints made sense—and I didn't like it any more than the householders being approached for contributions!

Last year I was given the opportunity to learn all there is to know about the County Chest organization and to speak my mind as a member of the County Board of Directors. Believe me, it is a big job to represent your community on such a Board without getting discouraged and throwing in the sponge . . . and why? Because the Chest is Democracy in action—and as usual, its representatives are very apt to get kicked verbally, if not actually, both coming and going!

The questions asked me as a solicitor are the same ones hashed over during Board meetings, but the ACTION taken on those questions must come about through action by the people and that means YOU, YOU, and YOU! That this is true is proven by the acceptance, this year, of the Visiting Nursing Association into the County Chest! Public knowledge of the health needs of our county and public clamor for the retention of the Nursing service added up to its acceptance by the Chest. We need more such knowledge and clamor, less aimless complaining unbacked by facts!

Chest needs for 1952 are bigger than ever, their service to you greater; their AIMS, as ever, PREVENTIVE by nature!

If you work in San Francisco—split your contribution half and half! Need help? Call the Community Chest office in San Mateo and state your problem! Visit the various agencies, look over the books or the budget—believe it or not, it is YOUR community chest and it is open for inspection!

The matter of too many drives is something else again, but here too it is up to YOU. Concerted effort by the people in this county can make it possible to have ONE drive. One Middle Western city has already done so and successfully! Investigate, know where your dollars go and the problem will solve itself.

For a personal plea and not as a report let me add this; I have rung door bells for the Chest in Daly City for two years now and I cannot stress the town's need for its agencies enough! We NEED that Visiting Nursing Service, the Girl Scouts and the Family Service Agency, which PREVENTS homes from being broken and guides children BEFORE they become wards of the Juvenile court! Give generously this year for your own good!

ARTS AND CRAFTS
by Helen Holman

We have only a few days left before the Arts and Crafts Exhibit to be held at the high school on Aug. 29th. We have ben so busy at the Craft centers, that it's hard to realize that our summer work is completed. We are anxious and proud to display our work so that our friends and families might see how we have spent so many enjoyable hours.

Richard and John Smith have been interested in making puppets and will give a performance for us at the exhibit. Richard Marquez has completed an Indian display. The Indian statues has has painted are very realistic and colorful and Richard has done such excellent work we hope everyone makes an effort to see it.

The small children are showing a lot of enthusiasm in entering their work for display and it's amazing to see what these children are capable of doing. They have progressed so much that we at the craft centers can say it has ben a very succesful year.

So remember — come and see what your child has done with his leisure hours. Make a date to see the Craft Exhibit, Wednesday, Aug., 29, at the Jefferson High School.
